

Is it possible to build a career and make a good living being a coach?

There is a huge need for Life Coaches in India and very few qualified and certified Life Coaches to fulfill that need. That means that Life Coaches are in great demand. According to a recent Times of India article, entry-level Life Coaches in India earn between Rs. 10,000 and Rs. 30,000 per session, whereas more experienced coaches charge up to a few lakh rupees per session. Coaching is an extremely rewarding profession - both personally and financially.

How do I know if Coaching is right for me?

Ask yourself the following questions and if the answer is YES, then Life Coaching IS right for you:

- Do you like people?
- Do you want financial independence?
- Are you a good listener?
- Do you desire to work at a job you love?
- Do you easily develop a rapport with others?
- Do you enjoy helping others?
- Do you want to make a difference in the world?
- Do you want to continue to grow spiritually?

Can I coach part time?

Absolutely. In fact, we recommend it. Set aside a few hours a week for your coaching clients, but keep your day job. Then, as you start getting more clients, you can begin to devote more time to your practice. At that point, you can opt to become a full-time coach, or you can continue coaching part time and earning that extra money.

What is the typical income of a coach?

According to a recent article in the Times of India, entry level independent Life Coaches in India typically make between Rs. 10,000.00 and Rs. 30,000.00 per session whereas more experienced coaches can charge up to a few lakh rupees per session. Each session is typically about 45 - 60 minutes. Annual income depends on whether one wishes to work full-time or part-time as a coach, as well as how much time one is willing to put into their practice.

In either case, at these rates, if you get even ONE client after you finish your course, you will have recovered your tuition fee.

Is coaching considered therapy or counseling?

Coaching is NOT like therapy or counseling although Coaching does draw from a diverse range of disciplines. Coaching is more concerned with results rather than understanding or processing. Therefore, there is a strong focus on action. Coaching makes its focus on the future rather than the past.

Coaching is about working under the assumption that every individual that we are coaching already has all the answers that they require within his/herself. The primary job of the Coach is to help the client tap into the deep resource that they already own to find the appropriate answers to the areas of their life that is just not working for them. It is very important to remember that the Coaching Session is an 'advice-free zone'.
